At the Height o' the Year.

Now turns the year in his scarlet bed; Now creeps the frost to the crimson tread; Now smokes the fires of the Wander Tribe, High in the woodland and low by the sea.

Now is the time for the Dearest Dream, To press the hillocks with heaving feet; Now enter the heroes of Arcadia With creaking wains in the narrow street.

Now lifts the heart to the fearless quest; Now slings the blood to the surer time; Now wakes the soul from its summer sleep, To climb to God in an afternoon.

Low in the valley the leaves are still— Sudden gold in the stubble field; Over the hills the flags unfurl, Flaring the pride of the turning year.

Low in the valley doubt lies dead— A shadow aslant the purple field; Over the hills the flags unfurl, Flaring the pride of the turning year.

Thanksgiving German.

The horse show is over. Society gives it a smile for its pleasures and a sigh for its passing, then turns to the future which claims its attention at Thanksgiving. The main social event of that festive season are those in connection with the annual foot ball game and the Thanksgiving german which this year will be under the direction of Miss Carrie Armstrong and Miss Louise Herbert, both debutantes of last season, and two of the brightest and most charming girls in Richmond society.

The german as usual will be given at Masonic Temple. The music, the decorations and the german figures are details in which much artistic taste, skill and thought will be expended. The german will have as its patronesses a large number of the leaders in Richmond society. The list of young girls dancing will include the season's debutantes and many others who have attended the german at the University of Virginia and have friends among the members of the visiting team.

The gavottes of Thanksgiving always attract a large number of visitors to the city, the majority of whom will be guests of Richmond society for the day and will appear at the dances which will be the pleasure for their presence.

Miss Armstrong and Miss Herbert are quite determined that the german shall, in its success, reflect credit on the effort they are to make in getting it up and are already arousing interest and enthusiasm in regard to it among the belles and beaux of the town.

Weddings of the Week.

October weddings still continue to fill a large place in the interest and thoughts of society. In Richmond the wedding of Miss Theresa Barnum to Mr. Charles E. Byrd is scheduled for Tuesday next, October 25th; that of Miss Mary Rogers to Mr. Paulie Patton Cooke for Wednesday, October 26th.

On October 27th, in Calvary Baptist Church, this city, Miss Gertrude Bruce

MISS HARRIETTE LEE TALIAFERRO.

The school of the Richmond Art Club started off in full swing October 15th at their home, corner of Grace and Madison Streets, with Miss Harriette Lee Taliaferro as instructor. Miss Taliaferro is a native of Gloucester county, and has made art her profession, having illustrated for leading American journals. She has studied in New York, both at the Cooper Union and the Art Students' League under George de Forest Brush and G. H. Twachtman, and has recently returned from six years' study in Paris and Munich, under Angelo Jank and Frederick Fehr, for life drawing; under Theodore Hummel for out-of-door painting; under Hegenbart for water color; under Max Dasso and Mucha for illustration and design and under Kultr, Simon and Prinnet for oils.

Miss Taliaferro was specially favored while in Paris by becoming a member of the private class of M. Lucien Simon. This class being limited to six or seven members, is greatly sought after by hosts of students eager for work under a great master.

Miss Taliaferro's work has been most favorably commented on by artists, by the foreign press and by such American journals as the Herald, Tribune and New York Times. Her pictures have been hung in the French salon and have appeared in other exhibitions abroad.

Miss Taliaferro has her rooms and studio at the Art Club building, where the public will soon be given an opportunity of seeing her work at a reception that will be tendered her by the club. The membership of the Art Club last year was about 125. It is believed that this year there will be much enthusiasm shown among the active members.

Simpson and Mr. William Scott Brown, of Ashland, Va., will be married, the Rev. Dr. Pitt and Bishop Granberry, of Ashland, officiating.

Next Tuesday, October 25th, Miss Berkeley Coleman Hooper and Mr. James A. Davis, both of this city, will be the contracting parties in one of the prettiest home weddings of the season, to take place at No. 400 South Cherry Street. Miss Bernice Chetwynd Ballard and Mr. Franklin B. Bowie will be married October 25th, in the bride's home on Magnolia Avenue, this city.

Out-of-Town Weddings.

The list of out-of-town weddings with which Richmond society will concern itself is important, notably that of Mrs. Linda Fox Henderson to Mr. David N. Walker, which will be celebrated October 25th, in St. James Church, Louisa, Va.;

that of Miss Nellie Summerville McComb to Mr. J. W. Puryear which will take place quietly in Mechanicsville Baptist Church, October 29th; and that of Miss Minnie M. Giles to Dr. Ernest McCue Thrift, on October 26th, in the Presbyterian Church at Hephzibah, Va.

Burr-Easter.

The Monroes Watchman, published at Union, West Virginia, under the date of October 20th, gives the following account of a marriage in which many Richmond people are interested:

A very pretty nuptial event was the marriage yesterday, Oct. 19th, in All Saints Episcopal Church, at noon, of Mr. Frederick Stanley Burr of Wilmington, N. C., and Miss Mary Maxwell Easter, of Union.

The church was artistically decorated with chrysanthemums, smilax and palms.

Mrs. E. S. McNeer presided most acceptably at the organ, and the bridal party entered to the music of the bridal march from Lohengrin.

Mrs. L. T. W. Marye, of Ashland, Va., sister of the bride, was matron of honor, while the groom was escorted by his father, Mr. Austin Hart Burr, of Richmond, Va., in the capacity of best man. The ever beautiful and impressive marriage services of the church were conducted by the rector and father of the bride, the Rev. G. W. Easter, during which the notes of "Sweetest Story Ever Told" sounded softly from the organ. For the recessional the splendid music of Mendelssohn's wedding march gave stately measure. The bride was charmingly gowned in white imported nun's veiling with point lace trim. She wore the snowy bridal veil and carried white chrysanthemums. The matron of honor wore grey mouseline and Gainsborough hat of grey velvet and carried pink chrysanthemums. Mrs. Easter appeared in a costume of black broadcloth, and Mrs. Austin Hart Burr in white tulle.

The groom is a successful and highly connected business man of Wilmington, N. C. His bride is one of Union's brightest and most attractive young ladies, and her father has generously agreed to give her up. Many handsome bridal gifts bestowed for her affection and good wishes. A short time after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Burr left to spend the honeymoon in travel, after which they will make their home in Wilmington.

Maginniss-Paalzow.

The Philadelphia Press of Thursday October 20th, says in speaking of the wedding celebration of a young lady who for several years resided in Richmond and is well remembered here:

"In the Church of the Atonement, Forty-seventh Street and Kingsessing Avenue, the wedding of Miss Ida Josephine Paalzow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Paalzow, of No. 123 South Forty-seventh Street, formerly of Richmond, Va., and Mr. Frank Joseph Maginniss, son of Colonel and Mrs. T. H. Maginniss, of 3811 Spruce Street, took place last evening at 6:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. N. Stanger, rector of the church."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Paalzow, as maid of honor. The bride's gown was of white duchess lace over a tulle bodice. She carried a diamond sunburst held her veil in place and she carried lilies-of-the-valley and bride roses.

The maid of honor wore an ivory mouseline, with lace applique, and carried pink chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids were Mr. John Faber Paalzow, a brother of the bride; Mr. Walter E. Maginniss, a brother of the bridegroom; Mr. Charles Winslow Panchon and Mr. Wilson Nevins.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maginniss, which resided in New York City.

Dillon-Martin.

Miss Alice V. Martin, the daughter of Mr. P. Martin, of Lynchburg, and Mr. Charles M. Dillon, formerly of Richmond, but at present a resident of Lynchburg, where he represents Armour and Company, were married October 18th, in Holy Cross Church, Lynchburg, the Rev. Father McGurk and the Rev. Father Perrig officiating.

The church was decorated in palms and flowers. Miss Roberts was organist, and Miss Alice McNamara sang Millard's "Ave Maria."

The bride, gowned in a dark blue tailored costume and an imported hat of the same shade, carried a lovely prayer book of white and gold. She was attended by her sister, Miss Alice Martin, and by Miss Margaret Dillon, the sister of the groom, who wore white organdy over tulle, white lace hat and carried white chrysanthemums. Mr. James L. Martin was best man to the groom and the list of bridesmaids included Miss Alice E. Phillips, Mr. Charles McCarthy, Mr. Joseph McSweeney, Dr. William McGowan and Mr. John Nokeley, of Richmond; Mr. William McNamara, of Lynchburg. Bridal presents of cut glass, silver and bric-a-brac were numerous and handsome. After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Dillon left for a western tour.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Charles Dillon, mother of the groom; Miss Margaret Dillon, Mrs. Thomas Smith, Jr., Mrs. Nellie H. Henty, Miss Edna Buebe, Richmond; Mrs. Jack Cortes, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Byrne, Miss Alice Franklin, Roanoke, Va.; Mr. Laurence Martin, Charleston, W. Va.; Mr. Thomas Martin, Williamsburg, Va.; Mr. George Lauson and son, Robert, Richmond, Va.; Dr. Robert Lauson, New York.

Woman's Club Classes.

The coming week will be a busy one at the Woman's Club, as all the different classes in which the members are interested will meet to organize for the winter's work.

On Wednesday morning at 10:30 Mrs. W. E. Thurston will meet the ladies who wish to join her class in physical culture. This class is absolutely free to all club members and promises to be large and interesting. The same day at one o'clock, the members of Madame Guillaume's French class will come together again to resume their study of that language.

What promises to be a most attractive feature in club life will be the class for the study of United States history which will be organized on Friday morning at eleven o'clock. The president has spent a great deal of time and thought in arranging a very interesting programme, which will cover twenty-five meetings, each one to be conducted by a different lady, all club members.

Immediately after the meeting of the history class at 12 o'clock on Friday the Women's Club Whist Club will be reorganized. It has been decided to devote this season to team whist, which will be played once every week and tournaments will be given several times during the winter.

Last spring the club pledged itself to send out three traveling libraries. Two of these were sent off in August, but the third is not yet complete, owing to a lack of time in the variety of the books donated. Books on history, biography, science, art, nature study, poetry—in fact, anything but fiction—will be gladly received by the committee in charge, who are anxious to complete their good work as soon as possible.

Miss Constance Tinsley, who has returned to Richmond after an absence of seven years and who appeared for the first time before a Richmond audience last Monday, was warmly greeted by the members of the Woman's Club and their guests. Her selections, comprising a scene from Henry VIII., "The Merchant of Venice," "Up in the City and Down in the Cell," and "Arcturion in Arcady," a sketch by Miss Daskin, were rendered in a soft, musical, well modulated voice, which at once charmed her hearers and held their attention throughout. The rehearsal of the day had as her guests Mrs. Thomas Adkins, Miss Christiana Harris, Mrs. McKnight, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Virginia Feltz and Cunningham. Miss Virginia Feltz was served by Miss Patterson, coffee was served by Miss Helen Morrison and tea by Mrs. Howard Hoge.

Women's Meetings.

The Confederate Memorial Literary Society will meet Wednesday, October 26th, at 11 p. m.

There will be a called meeting of the board of the Woman's Christian Association at the association rooms, Nos. 70-71 East Franklin Street, on Monday, the 11th, at 11 o'clock, to consider the Church Hill branch and other matters of great importance to the association. The auxiliary of the Christian Women's Board of Missions of Seventh Street Church will celebrate its twenty-eighth

KAUFMANN & CO

THE HORSE SHOW'S significance as a fashionable function lies in the fact that it determines the modes for the late Fall and Winter season. In that aspect, particularly, do our recent arrivals in Millinery, Coats, Suits, and Waists merit your inspection now, since they reveal the late style ideas that have sprung into existence to meet the requirements for that occasion.

Millinery of Classic Beauty.

The educated taste which prompts women to patronize the Kaufmann Millinery will find in our present assembly that studied refinement which ranks so high in their esteem.

Style thought and color schemes from the world's most authentic sources, and our own especially pleasing creations are now shown in lavish variety.

Extremely Large Hats, made of French-felt, beaver, velvet, with large tri-color tips, are very stunning.

French Hats, in terra cotta, peacock and other beautiful effects, great variety of handsome and becoming shapes.

"Empire" Hats—Every one a masterpiece—every one reflecting the 1830 modes, but possessing individual character of its own.

Violet Hats—New models, showing the latest and best employment of the ultra modish violet shades in millinery.

The New Contineptal and Charlotte Corday Hats

are now much in favor. There's a creation of our own which is regarded as an important model, receiving much flattering comment—we'll hold it up for your mental vision—of rich black French felt—flat sailor shape, with collar of autumn leaves shading into the most delicate tints of blue—the dash of elegance which distinguishes this hat is furnished by the manner two blue plumes are directed to fall gracefully to one side.

We suggest this as an unusually advantageous opportunity for the selection of the required style so essential in Hats for theatre wear, receptions and such other formal functions as are now uppermost in the minds of Fashion's devotees.

Tailored Suits, Coats and Skirts.

True elegance, whether it find its source in simplicity or rich elaboration, marks every garment in our collection—the variety of styles is not merely representative, but exhaustive, since without exception every late idea in Suits and Coats is now presented.

We select for to-day's mention from among the recent arrivals some numbers that came to us at a price advantage, the extent of which cannot be measured in type. Your inspection will make our meaning clear; worthy of special mention, we consider.

anniversary on Monday, October 24th, at 4 P. M.

members of the "Women's Alliance" of the First Unitarian Church will hold a "Festival of Holidays" at the Crenshaw house, corner of Main and Adams Streets, on October 27th and 28th, beginning on the evening of the 27th.

The different festivals of the year—Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, the Fourth of July—will be represented by the different booths, upon which will be displayed suitable articles appropriate to each festival. Refreshments will also be served, the public generally is cordially invited to attend and assured of prompt attention.

Stewart-Blakemore.

An interesting wedding to Virginia people was that of Miss Virginia Irene Blakemore, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Blakemore, of Lancaster county, Va., to Dr. George Hume Stewart, of Baltimore. The celebration took place at 7 P. M., October 19th, in the Cardinal's residence at Baltimore, the Rev. Louis O'Donovan being the celebrant.

Owing to a recent death in Dr. Stewart's family, only the families of the contracting parties were present. The bride came in with her father. She wore an imported gown of brown velvet, a brown velvet toque, and carried white chrysanthemums. Her only ornament was a sunburst of pearls and diamonds, the gift of the groom.

Dr. and Mrs. Stewart will make their future home at No. 12 West Twenty-third Street, Baltimore.

The bride is one of Lancaster's most attractive young ladies, a blonde and a charming type of womanhood. She is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Blakemore, her father being a prosperous Virginia farmer and merchant, and also extensively engaged in the oyster business. Dr. Stewart belongs to one of the oldest and most prominent Maryland families, and is a descendant of the Carrolls, Hills, Calverts, Darrells and Blakemores. He is a graduate of the Maryland University, and now holds the appointment of assistant surgeon to the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service at Baltimore.

Annual Alumnae Meeting.

At the annual meeting of the Woman's College Alumnae, held on the afternoon of October 19th in the Marshall annex of the college, Miss Emma Whitfield was elected president; Mrs. Nannie Landrum Boman, first vice-president; Miss Rosa Smith, second vice-president; Miss Clara Beeler, corresponding secretary; Miss Annie Williamson, recording secretary, and Mrs. Birdie Jones Winston treasurer. A pleasant feature of the evening was the presence of Miss Ballie Hammer, a former principal of the Woman's College, who is now spending some time most pleasantly with friends here. The meeting closed with a reception to Miss Hammer.

Club Recital. St. Cecilia's Club organized at St. Mary's Benedictine Academy just before the close of last season, and had its first recital on last Friday afternoon, October 21st.

A large proportion of club members being present, several highly enjoyable selections by the pupils were presented. The members gave their hearty co-operation to these entertainments, and hope to render them the leading events of the autumn and winter.

Whist Tournament. A number of the young society girls of the city are warmly interested in the success of the whist tournament to be given at 4 P. M. October 24th in the Crenshaw building, corner of Main and Adams Streets, for the benefit of the Girls' Club on Church Hill.

The object for which the tournament is to be given commends itself to all. Every arrangement has been made for the tournament, which promises to be a delightful affair.

Among those who are most active in directing it are Miss Kathleen Anderson, Misses Meredith, Miss Annie Gray, Miss Nellie Tompkins, Miss Mary Buford, Miss Maud Morgan and Miss Evelyn Gordon.

Brown-Simpson.

Mr. William Scott Brown, secretary-treasurer of Randolph-Macon College, and Miss Gertrude B. Simpson will be married at Calvary Baptist Church tomorrow at 1 o'clock. Owing to a recent bereavement in the bride's family, the wedding will be a very quiet one. Miss Fannie Simpson will be maid of honor, Dr. A. G. Brown best man, and Messrs. H. Selden Taylor, Jr., J. M. Cox, of Ashland; E. W. Bowen, Th. D. of Randolph-Macon, and Dr. E. J. Moseley, Jr., ushers.

Auxiliary Meeting.

Under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary, a meeting of women will be held in the Virginia Passenger and Power Company Young Men's Christian Association hall, at Reservoir Park, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. There will be an address by Mr. W. E. Fenne, of New York.
